

1st February 1973

Editor:

It is now apparent Australia has been flim-flamed into buying two dozen useless obsolete aeroplanes. Three hundred fifty million dollars is thirty dollars for each man, woman and child in the country. At this price, everybody should get one free ride, complete with demonstration of the swinging (flapping?) wing feature. Where does the queue form?

Grote Reber
Dennistown
Bothwell, 7411