

11th February 1956
212 W. Seminary Ave.
Wheaton, Illinois

Chicago Astronomical Society
Adler Planetarium
Chicago, Illinois

Att: Roger W. Strouse, Secretary

Gentlemen:

Last night I attended your meeting for the first time in several years and was much pleased with the present activity of the society. This is the first opportunity I've had since the old group ceased functioning early during the past war. The trials and tribulations of Herschel were most interesting and are typical of anyone starting out on his own to learn by doing.

Tomorrow I'm leaving for several months in Australia, so it will not be possible for me to participate actively in your doings, however much I might wish.

When I returned here two months ago from down under, I found a notice dated last May awaiting me. It stated that a years subscription to Sky and Telescope was available to members upon application. If the offer is still in effect, I'd like to have this publication sent to me at the above address. It should be of instructive interest to my brothers youngsters during my absence.

Wishing you continued success, I am

Very truly yours,

Grote Reber