

September 26th, 1966.

Dennistoun, Bothwell,
Tasmania, Australia.

Hon. Fred R. Harris,
Senator from Oklahoma,
Senate Office Building,
WASHINGTON, D.C., U.S.A.

Dear Senator Harris,

Allow me to introduce myself as an American citizen of long standing, conducting scientific studies at this remote place. I try to keep in touch with affairs in U.S.A. by correspondence with my friends and thru the pages of SCIENCE magazine. The uneven distribution of science funds across the nation has annoyed many people for some time.

Enclosed is a short reprint from SCIENCE which you may find interesting. I will have more to say on these matters at various levels when I return to U.S.A. next year. I will be pleased to receive a copy of any reports your committee issues.

Yours faithfully,

Grote Reber.

GR:JEG